Tom Fry 1am-6am

When he's not rocking tunes and sharing his musical knowledge and sense of humor with his listeners, Fry is a musician, actor, voice-over artist and writer. He lived as a starving artist in L.A. for eight years before deciding to get back into radio in 2003. He loves watching his hometown Detroit Lions, Tigers, Pistons and Red Wings, as well as his alma mater, Indiana University's basketball and football squads. He also enjoys cooking, bike riding and working out. His two cats share his house, but don't consider him the "Crazy Cat Guy" quite yet. To prove it, check out Tom's Facebook fan page under "The Fry Show", there he loves to interact with his radio listeners, share everything both on and off the air! [AND does he ever!] Tom still has hopes of someday getting married (as long as she likes rock & roll, sports and uhhh, yea... cats).
